Clothing Set Afire by Stove and Is Mass of Flames
Before Aid Arrives.

Ossining, N. Y., Nov. 16—Mrs. Mary Hopper, a blind woman, 52 years old, was burned to death today in her home here before her 75 year old sister, who had heard her screams was able to rescue her. It had been her custom to sit near the fire while her sister, Miss Phoebe Crane, went about the house doing the work.

It is supposed that the aged woman got too close to the flames and that her clothing caught fire. When she found her garments ablaze she ran into a bed room. She was a mass of flames when her sister reached her side.

HUERTA WILL FIGHT TO FINISH

Reiterates Statement at Meeting that He Will Not Accede to the Demands of the United States

Mexico City, Nov. 16—It was learned today that the American Charge ad seen President Huerta, and from the President himself, had learned that he would not resign and would only listen to such proposals as were compatible with his own dignity and that of his country.

This is the substance of a report which it is said that Mr. O'Shaughnessy has made in Washington.

Mexico City, Nov. 16—What doubt remained regarding President Huerta's intentions with respect to compliance of the American demands for his own elimination was removed from the minds of most Mexican and foreign residents by his peremptory dismissal.

CLOSING WEEK OF SESSION

Grangers at Manchester Will Inspect the Amoskeag Mills
This Afternoon.

The National grange convention begins its second and last week of sessions in Manchester today with a much smaller attendance than during the preceding days. At 10 this morning Master Oliver Wilson called the delegates to order at the Joliet club for a business session, which lasted until noon.

This afternoon a visit to the Amoskeag mills is on the program. The mills have made special arrangements to give an exhibition for the grangers of the processes of making cotton cloth, worsted goods, linens and other materials. Tour of the textile plant, now running nearly at maximum capacity, will occupy several hours.

Tonight another business meeting will take place at the Joliet club. Tomorrow interest will center in the election of officers and a contest is looked for from the "insurgent" forces.

At the close of Saturday's meeting, the secretary announced that altogether, to date, 1883 grangers have been obligated by this convention in the sixth degree; 5353 have been obligated in the seventh degree; that the number is 2863 larger than were ever obligated by a previous convention; and that the number of New Hampshire grangers who were obligated in the seventh degree is 3180.

Report on Resolutions.

Several important matters have to be threshed out today and tomorrow. One is a resolution presented by F. N. Godfrey of New York in favor of the control of telephone and telegraph facilities by the government; another is a resolution presented by State Master T. C. Atkeson of West Virginia in favor of removing restrictions on deposits in postal savings banks; and another is a resolution presented by State Master C. E. Spence of Oregon in favor of postal savings banks loaning money to farmers and home builders an ominal interest. All of these are now in committee and will be reported back with recommendations.

Saturday night a social time was enjoyed by the grangers at Mechanics hall. There was music during the evening and the delegates took an opportunity to visit among each other in an informal way. Several hundred went home last night on trains north and south, not caring to stay over to today's meetings.

Saturday afternoon a memorial service for the members of the order who have died since the last convention took place in the same building. There was music by an orchestra and tributes were rendered by Mr. Jones, Mr. Reardon and Mr. Atkeson to O. H. Kelley, a founder of the order; by A. F. Denny to Robert Eaton; by T. C. Atkeson to Samuel A. Houston; by C. B. Kegely to D. C. Russell; by John Morris to Levi Booth; by C. L. Rice to Sister Adams and by J. A. Sherwood to Sister Patterson.

Attend Church Services.

Visiting grangers attended divine worship in the several churches yesterday in large numbers. Sermons and music appropriate to the occasion were drawing crowds for many.

At the Congregational vespers last night in the Hanover street church there was a full house and about 300 of the audience were patrons of Husbandry. Dr. Thomas Chalmers delivered a sermon on "The Country Church." After paying a word of appreciation to the convention and the people it brought to the city, the preacher said that city churches are supported and "fed" by country churches. On a show of hands, it developed that about nine-tenths of the hearers had at some time or other in their lives attended a country church and lived in the country.

Dr. Chalmers gave an eulogy of the early days of his own church in Derryfield; of the days of the state church, the rise of atheism and the divorce of church and state; of the period of 14 years from 1814 to 1828 when there was no church here, and of the movement for the organization of a church society in the latter year which has survived to this day, constantly growing in numbers and influence.

BANDITS' PLOT NIPPED IN BUD

Haverhill Gunmen Walk Right Into Hands of Manchester Police
Instead of Lonely Woman
They Had Expected

Manchester, Nov. 16.—Tales of the boy bandits of schoolboy action hide into the commonplace beside the real story of four young gunmen who came from Haverhill last night to rob the lonely house of Orrin Clark on the Londonderry road.

Lured by the knowledge that the old-fashioned safe in the isolated homestead held nearly $50,000 in cold cash and that the sole protector within a quarter of a mile was a nervous, elderly woman, the four came armed with revolvers, determined to hurt no one if possible, "but shoot up the place to turn the trick" if necessary.

And then all four walked plump into the arms of the Manchester police, who were waiting for them.

Joseph F. McKinley, aged 19, of Amosbury, Mass., is said to have been the ringleader. The others were Ralph E. and Ray Howard, aged 22 and 17 respectively, of 176 Main street, Haverhill, Mass.; and Thomas Clark, aged 22, of Haverhill.

Bernard Fitzgerald, 23, of 87 Washington street, Haverhill, had been persuaded at the last minute by his wife to quit.

The plot, which was laid in Haverhill, had its inception in Derry a year.

TO GET BEST MEN FOR POSITIONS

Postmasters' Examinations
Will Be Held For Fourth Class Offices.

Washington, Nov. 16.—Announcement has been made by the civil service commission that the examination will be held within the next thirty days for the position of fourth class postmaster in the states of Vermont and New Hampshire in accordance with the provisions of President Wilson's Order May 7, 1913.

This order removed the cloak of civil service protection from a large body of fourth class postmasters who had been blanketed into the classified service by President Taft and directed that these positions be thrown open to civil service competition.

The examinations will be open to the present postmasters of these offices as well as to any other persons who desire to compete.

In answering an inquiry today as to what influence political affiliations would have in this class of appointments, Postmaster General Burleson stated that he desired it distinctly understood that it is his purpose to carry out the intent of President Wilson's order that these positions be filled in accordance with both the spirit and letter of the civil service law.

The Postmaster General added that he does not delegate the power of appointment nor in any case a selection made simply upon or because of a recommendation of a member of congress.

He stated further that he has a duty to perform in making selections under the civil service rule; that it is his desire to select in every case the most efficient man obtainable; and that in furtherance of such desire he is using and intends to continue to use every available means of ascertaining the best of the men certified to him by the Civil Service Commission.

In his efforts to secure the most efficient man for the Postal Service and as part of the evidence upon which he reaches his conclusion, it is his practice to ask the member of congress in which district the vacancy exists to advise him relative to the character and fitness of the three eligibles. In doing so the postmaster general calls upon the member not in his capacity as a member of any political party but solely as the representative of that community, regardless of party affiliations; and to emphasize his purpose in this respect the Postmaster General in asking the member of congress for his recommendation, calls special attention to the fact that under existing executive orders, selections must be made by the department with sole reference to merit and fitness, and no recommendation made to him must be based solely upon such considerations and without reference to the political affiliations of the eligibles.

And further he has desired that all letters recommending appointments based upon political considerations be returned to the writers.

The civil service commission will have displayed in the various post-offices for which examinations will be held, bulletins stating when and where such examinations will be held and giving other information of interest to probable candidates. All inquiries relative to these examinations should be addressed to the Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C.

MAY TIE UP LAWRENCE MILLS

Firemen's Action Affects 50 Factories and 35,000 Operatives.

Lawrence, Nov. 16.—The operation of practically all of the textile mills in the city may be affected by the action of 300 firemen who voted today to strike tomorrow morning unless their demands for an eight hour day are granted before the big plants are started. There are about 50 cotton and woolen mills, employing altogether 85,000 operatives.

Two meetings of the firemen were held today presided over by John J. Cunningham of Boston, International president of the Stationary Firemen's Union. It was announced that letters had been received from some of the mill officials but that no definite answer had been made to the firemen's demands.

The men at present work 12 hours a day. They ask that this time be reduced by four hours a day with no reduction in pay. Their demands were met several months ago by the gas company, the international Paper Co., and by the city.

The Steam and Operating Engineers' Union voted today to stand by the firemen if called upon. The union officials expressed confidence of success because the state law permits manufacturing establishments to cooperate with unaffiliated firemen for only one week at a time.

The newly organized chamber of commerce has offered its services to bring about a settlement of the dispute in an effort to divert any such widespread suffering as was caused in the big strike of the mill operatives of 1912, which made 270,000 operatives idle for nine weeks in the heart of the winter.

BROKE COLLAR BONE.

Frank Berry Was Playing Foot Ball When Accident Occurred.

Frank Berry, residing on Gates street, while playing football on Sunday fell in such a manner as to fracture his collar bone. The fracture was reduced by Dr. H. W. Taylor. The injury will keep Mr. Berry from work for some little time.

POLICE COURT.

James McDonald, a Sunday drunk, was given three months at the house of correction at Brentwood and ordered to pay costs of $6.90.

George Roberge, charged with the same offense, pleaded guilty and was assessed $5, with costs of $5.76, for his overindulgence, which he paid.

Edgar Bond, who was with Roberge, pleaded guilty, and came across with the same amount.

Mary Scott, charged with brawl and tumult on Charles street, was fined $10 and costs of $6.90, which she paid.

Tony Caruso, who stabbed Thomas Pilgrim on Sunday morning, was arraigned on the charge of aggravated assault. Through his counsel, Ralph C. Gray, he pleaded nolo and a fine of $25 and costs of $6.90 was imposed, which he paid.

The $50 cash bail of Joseph E. Wilson, charged with an assault on his wife on Saturday evening was forfeited as Wilson failed to show up when his case was called.

DOVER CHURCH ALMOST BURNED

Fire in Bakery Beneath Eats Into the Main Edifice.

Dover, N. H., Nov. 16.—The Belknap Congregational church narrowly escaped serious damage tonight by a fire which after the evening service closed was discovered in the sanitary bakery which occupied one of the first basement floors.

The bakery was almost burned out. The fire, which started from an overheated stove in the workrooms, ate its way up into the flooring of the auditorium. Many floor joists were badly burned before the fire was under control.

The metal ceiling and wall sheathing probably saved the church. This wall after the firemen to extinguish the flames. The auditorium was damaged by smoke, which came from an open skylight in the side of the bakery.

C. S. Travis, proprietor of the bakery, was unable to estimate his loss tonight. The damage to the building may exceed $1000. It was insured. The church was nearly destroyed by fire in 1902 and was restored at large expense.

SECRETARY HOUSTON ADDRESSED N. H. COLLEGE STUDENTS

New Hampshire College, Durham, N. H., Nov. 15.—David P. Houston, Secretary of Agriculture, spoke to the students of New Hampshire College at a special chapel service here today and startled them by announcing that the general in his opinion does less work per day than any other group of individuals known. The secretary said that he had been in educational work himself and knew that the accusation applied to him and that he did not know why this state of affairs existed but that in his opinion there was some truth in the popular assertion that college education is a four years loaf. "You can contract more bad habits in college than almost anywhere else," he said. "They are the habits which come from not working. They are not the habits that are popularly attributed to college students by the general public. The fact that they are bad habits is because they lead to incompetence and inefficiency for the first few years of life after graduation and if the graduate is to be successful ever, they must be unlearned promptly."

"I believe that at the age of 16 or 17 a boy should begin to have a man's work every day and have something to occupy him at hard labor for at least eight hours. If he has not, he will contract habits which will give him serious difficulty later. For many years I have been engaged in finding men. I have found it very difficult to find men and incidentally I may remark that had I the making of laws, I should consider amending state and national constitutions to make any applicant for a job ineligible. This is because I have found that and he cited Caesar, Augustus, Charlemagne, William of Orange, Cromwell, Shakespeare, Washington and Lincoln. The secretary's last sentence was to the effect that he had come here to help the students hold up the Governor and through him the state legislature.

Secretary Houston came here this morning from Manchester by automobile, accompanied by President R. W. Fairchild of New Hampshire College, Dr. Wallace Buttrick, of the General Education Board of the John D. Rockefeller Fund, and General Frank S. Streeter, of Concord. They were joined here by D. W. Badger, Commissioner of Agriculture and member of the Governor's Council of New Hampshire.

Dr. Buttrick spoke briefly after Secretary Houston, but the Governor did not make an address at this time. They made the trip from Manchester in automobiles, saw the college buildings and grounds and were guests of President and Mrs. Fairchild at luncheon. They left for Boston on an early afternoon train.

RATS INFEST THE SOUTH STREET DUMP

The dump at the old gravel pit on South road near the South cemetery is infested with rats and mice and they have multiplied so rapidly that the neighbors in that vicinity are making a protest. Sunday afternoon one could stand on the South road and see hundreds of rats in among the piles of rubbish. Some of them were large and undoubtedly water rats. The animals have been attracted to the piles of rubbish dumped on this pit and undisturbed even by the small boy with his small rifle. They have increased very rapidly and soon something must be done to exterminate the pest. As yet they have confined themselves to the pit but with extreme cold weather they are liable to travel. As a matter of health the Board of Health are likely to take some action.

MUCH DEPENDS ON RESULTS OF MILITARY INSTRUCTION CAMPS

Washington Nov. 16.—"To give to the young men of the United States who are desirous of accepting the opportunity for a short course in military training in order that they may be better fitted to discharge their military duty to their country should a war ever stand in need of their service," Major Gen. Leonard Wood commanding the army has issued orders for the establishment of students' military instruction camps.

"The benefit of these camps to the nation," says Gen. Wood "is that they foster a patriotic spirit without which a nation soon loses its vitality and falls into decay; they spread among the citizens of the country a more thorough knowledge of military history, military policy and military needs all necessary to the complete education of a well equipped citizen in order that he may himself form just and true opinions on military topics."

"As a military asset the value of these camps is incalculable. They afford the means of materially increasing the present inadequate personnel of the trained or partially trained military reserves of the United States and this increase consisting of a class of educated men from which in time of national emergency a large proportion of the volunteer commissioned officers will probably be drawn and upon whose judgment and training at such a time the lives of many other men will in a measure depend."

The ultimate object sought is not in any way one of military aggrandizement but to provide in some degree means of meeting a vital need confronting us as a powerful and unan-library Swiss and Noble Guards paid military honors.

In the halls leading to the library were the other officers and about 160 bluejackets stood in a double line around the Constabulary Hall.

The Pope was most cordial and cheerful and expressed great satisfaction at being able to greet the American sailors. He asked the officers to be seated next to his chair and after a long conversation proceeded in company with the three Rear Admirals and the Captain to the adjoining hall where he spoke a few words to each officer. He then gave the Apostolic Benediction to all.

After the Papal audience the Rear Admirals and other officers were received by Cardinal Merry del Val, Papal Secretary of State.

The superior officers of the fleet will witness in the Sistine Chapel tomorrow the postponed service arranged for the anniversary of the coronation of Pius X. The Pope the Sacred College and other high ecclesiastical dignitaries will be there. Cardinal Merry del Val will celebrate pontifical mass.

CHINESE WILL DEFY A TAX LAW

Panama Nov. 16.—The Chinese residents of the republic have resolved to defy the law requiring registration and the payment of a tax by those Chinamen who are not able to produce registration papers. They have been granted a further period of ten days in which to comply with the law with the understanding that continued resistance would result in their being arrested. The public is divided over the question.

FIRE AT B. & M. ROUNDHOUSE

The auto chemical was called at 2:35 Sunday morning for a fire at the Boston and Maine roundhouse. The blaze started in the sand house in a barrel of tar and the railroad fire department were not making much head way when the auto crew arrived.

A new extinguisher secured for use in gasoline and oil fires was used and it smothered the fire in no time. The railroad men had a stream of water on the fire but it was only adding fuel. This is the first trial of this extinguisher but recently added to the auto chemical equipment by Chief Woods and it was a very successful. It is a gun arrangement loaded with a fluid and discharged by a hundred pound air pressure.

THANKSGIVING THOUGHTS

(Edgar A. Guest in Detroit Free Press.)

Back to the dear old mother, back to the kind old dad,
Back where it makes no difference what sort of luck I've had;
Back where they'll greet me kindly free from all welcome sham,
Back where they really want me just for the thing I am.
That's where I'll be Thanksgiving, back with the folks once more,
With a mother's hug and a mother's kiss again at my open door.

I'm tired of going forward, I'm tired of progressive ways,
And I long for this backward journey and the peace of the bygone days.
I'm weary of juggling ever for money and place and fame,
I'm sick of the constant howling that life is a fighting game.
And I long for the sacred sweetness, the calm of the backward niche,
In the little home where I mattered as whether I'm poor or rich.

I'm weary of world distinctions, the lips that are tightly drawn,
To mark off the great from the humble, the weak from the men of brawn.
The classes of dull and clever, and the varied degrees of worth
That have grown to seem so important to men on this good old earth.
And I long to go back to the real things, away from the hollow sham,
Back where they love me and want me just for the thing I am.

Back to the dear old mother, back to the kind old dad,
Back where though poor and low-born to see me they'll still be glad;
Back where a smile is honest, back where a kind word's meant,
Where joy is a thing untainted by selfish and vain intent.
That's where I'll be Thanksgiving, back at the open door
Where a mother's kiss and a father's smile will gladden the heart once more.

Making the Desert Bloom.

It cost $7,000,000 to bottle up the water of the Colorado river for irrigation purposes, but the money appears to have been well spent. About 175,000 acres of dry waste land in the vicinity of Yuma, Arizona, will be turned from a region of fruitless barrenness into a watered area of extreme fertility capable of producing corn, cotton, cattle or whatever else may be grown under temperate tropical climatic conditions. Orange cultivation may possibly be one of the leading industries. A great tract of country covered with sand dunes and sage brush, along the old Santa Fe trail, will soon be made to blossom the year 'round to the coaxing of distributed Colorado refreshment. Of all the irrigation schemes undertaken with the aid of the federal government this Arizona venture seems to promise the most satisfactory return.

Grave engineering problems have been successfully solved in getting the water in the main canal on the California side of the Colorado river across to the Arizona side. This involved the construction of an 800-foot tunnel and carrying the water through a siphon 60 feet below the bed of the river. Now that the work has been completed farmer emigrants from all parts of the country are rapidly buying up the irrigable land. Eventually the sale of the land and water will reimburse the federal treasury for the original outlay. The public money has seldom been expended to better purpose or with more encouraging promise of opulent return and continuing beneficent result.

A Few Points on Thanksgiving.

As Thanksgiving day is drawing near it might reflect some light on the event of its observance by giving the small boy's composition relating thereto: "Thanksgiving was brought over from England by the Puritan fathers in the year 1620. It has staid here ever since. On Thanksgiving everybody goes to church in the morning so as to have everything out of the way before dinner. Then you come home and hang around a little while and get awful hungry smelling the turkey. After dinner Thanksgiving is over."

The People to Patronize.

Patronize progressive people if you wish to see a prosperous community. Money spent with a siliurian is like wasting fertilizer on a bed of rock instead of sowing it over soil that will enrich the world with a more luxuriant production. The money that is paid to enterprising people builds new houses, makes beautiful lawns, relieves the needy, and is always on the move. Lively times, progress and prosperity are thus secured.

Portsmouth an Ideal Convention City.

Portsmouth may have the annual State Teachers' Association meeting here next year, which means a convention of about 1500 teachers. It is just thirty-two years ago that the convention was held in this city and it is up to our citizens to do everything possible to secure this meeting. This is the ideal convention city of New England and with proper work more conventions could be secured.

The handbill nuisance in this city needs attention on the part of some one in authority. Business men who desire to advertise should do it in efficient ways, namely, in the newspapers, which reach more people in an hour than handbills do in a life-time. Handbills are seldom read, many of them blow away, litter up the public streets and thoroughfares, and, in general, are a nuisance.

Just at the present time the editors of the two Dover papers are devoting considerable of their space and energy in trying to convince the public as to their respective merits. During the controversy the alleged short comings of the new police commission seems to be forgotten.

Up in Massachusetts they say that the attendance at the boxing bouts has fallen off considerably since the politicians began handing out their wallopals at rallies free of charge.

About this time the average housewife is beginning to think what color of a necktie most befits her husband. Christmas is drawing near, is the reason.

A Missouri judge approves of the slit skirt on the ground that the wonderful human machine is nothing to be ashamed of.

And so Portsmouth High lowered her colors to her old time rival, Dover. Well, we expected a better showing on your part.

CONCORD LETTER

Concord, Nov. 17.—The next step in the Shaw case is a preliminary hearing before Judge Abner in the United States court room in this city tomorrow forenoon at which the future mode of procedure in the case will be determined. The transfer of the case from the state to the federal jurisdiction has almost entirely checked, for some reason, the previously voluminous output of statements and interviews from the Shaw headquarters at the Eagle hotel.

Because of the decision of the governor and council to meet but twice a month hereafter they held no session during the past week. Governor Parker, however, was here several times and on Friday brought with him a distinguished trio of visitors: Hon. David P. Donahoe, secretary of the national department of agriculture, Dr. Wallace H. H. H. of New York, field secretary of the Rockefeller Foundation for Agricultural Promotion, and President Edward T. Feltch of the state college. These gentlemen, with Governor Parker and General Frank S. Streeter, held an extended conference, the subject of which was the future of agriculture in New Hampshire.

The state public service commission was in Boston Friday and Saturday in private conference with Interstate Commerce Commissioner Pruett and the state commissioners of Maine, Massachusetts and Vermont upon the subject of the proposed increase of rates on the Boston & Maine railroad system, which has been considered at several previous public hearings.

At the same time General Solicitor Edgar J. Rich and Morton C. Bradley, state attorney, of the Boston & Maine, both of whom have become very well known in this state during the last few years, were attending in New York a conference of railroad counsel of the United States supreme court decision in the Minnesota rate cases and to discuss methods of railroad valuation and accounting which will meet the views of the court as expressed in the Oklahoma cases.

There has been received here a Boston & Maine circular setting forth the form of organization and rules for the establishment of the Safety First movement.

The central safety first committee is composed of the general officers of the road and will have general supervision over the organization.

Subsidiary committees will be formed on each division, in each shop and at each terminal, representatives of which committees will meet monthly with the central committee.

Meetings of all committees will be held monthly, and a safety first officer will attend as many meetings of the subsidiary committees as possible, and compile statistics of all accidents and keep the interest in the organization alive among the employees.

The Safety First organization invites the fullest and freest co-operation of every employee in calling to the attention of the various committees practices and conditions which operate against safety.

It is expected the work of these several committees will greatly aid in the elimination of accidents and prove profitable to the corporation and the public which it serves.

On January 1, 1914, there goes into effect in New Hampshire an act passed by the legislature of 1913, providing that "no female and no minor shall be employed or shall be permitted to work in any manufacturing, mechanical or mercantile establishment, laundry or restaurant, or confectionery store or by any express or transportation company, in this state, more than 10 1-4 hours during any one day or more than 56 hours in any one week." Labor Commissioner John S. R. Doyle is sending out from his office at the state house to the various establishments coming within the scope of the law copies of its full provisions, so that they may have ample time in which to arrange their work schedules in conformity with it. Some of them already have done so, he finds.

Other recent activities of the labor commissioner include the settling of a strike at Hillsborough in the women mills there; and the reference of a request for wage increases in the Hays shoe shops at Manchester to the recently appointed state board of arbitration and conciliation which begins its active duties with the consideration of this case. These two laws, the 55-hour and board of arbitration bills, were the principal items of labor legislation at the recent session of the general court and there is much interest in watching their workings.

Charles D. Howard, state chemist, is in Washington, attending the annual meeting of the association of official, agricultural and pure food chemists, before his departure he published in the Quarterly Bulletin of the State Board of Health an exhaustive article upon "The Town Water Supply," with especial reference to the use of bleaching powder and chlorine as purifying and protective agents and summarizing the situation created in this state by the unusual drought of the last summer. The investigations conducted by him and reported in this article were in accordance with the provisions of another act of the legislature of 1913.

An interesting compilation has been made at the office of the state superintendent of public instruction, showing that there are 274 college graduates today employed as teachers in the secondary schools of the state of New Hampshire. Somewhat surprising is the fact that Bates College leads all others, with 47 of its graduates so employed; Boston College closely following with 45. Then come three colleges for women, Mount Holyoke with 23, Wellesley, 24, and Smith, 25. Dartmouth has but 25 of its alumni so enrolled and New Hampshire State College but 15. There are 14 Radcliffe girls among the teachers, but only ten Harvard men and just two from Yale. Thirty-three other colleges, ranging in location from Acadia University in Nova Scotia to Stanford University in California, are represented by from one to a dozen graduates.

WINS OWN CASE OVER DETECTIVES

Middleboro, Nov. 16.—Conducting his case alone against the evidence of two private detectives from Boston Charles Lyons a painter from Boston was discharged in the district court yesterday on a charge of keeping and exposing intoxicating liquors with the intent to sell.

Lyons was arrested in the general police clean up of a week ago on the evidence gained by three Boston detectives, who posed here as hunters, and who worked the local members of a secret society in which they claimed to belong. One of the detectives, Fred H. Lyons of Boston, testified that he purchased a pint of liquor from the defendant, Lyons, for 50 cents in a stable near Everett Square.

To contradict that evidence, the defendant, Lyons, put on the stand David Mullens and Walter Wheeler who testified that the whiskey was drunk by all present and that Lyons the detective did not give Lyons the defendant any money at all. Judge Washburn said that he would give Lyons the benefit of the doubt and discharged him.

"The Lady of the Decoration" is being read by many people. Go to assembly hall Nov. 25 and see the Dumayway Concert Co. presenting this novel entertainment. Tickets 50c.

CURRENT OPINION

ALWAYS ROOM FOR THE TRAINED EXECUTIVE.

I believe that one of the prerequisites of a man to business success is mainly absolute self control. Constant concentration and a steady purpose to put some new achievement to his credit are highly valuable.

He must always remain in the lead of those working for and under him and at least keep abreast of his competitors.

There need not be any crowding out of a superior man in business, because there is nothing in this country in which there is a greater discrepancy between supply and demand than there is of men of trained executive ability.

Let any man demonstrate that he has it and the demand for him will come with a rush from all directions.—Henry Morgenthau, New York Banker, Ambassador to Turkey.

One Craft Benefits

Only one craft of the various trades benefits by the recommendations of the board of wages for 1914 at the Charlestown navy yard which was posted Saturday, and recommends for all classes of ordinance men an increase of 16 cents a day. It approved by the head of the navy department this will bring the wages of that craft up to $3.50 a day by January 1. There are less than 100 men of this trade employed at the local yard, where there are more than 2000 workmen.

Garrison Praises Marines

Secretary of War Garrison was so impressed with the efficiency of the marine corps battalion at Camp Elliott in the Panama Canal zone during his visit that he has directed Major General Leonard Wood to send out to all commanding officers of posts a statement showing the methods pursued in bringing the battalion to its present fine condition.

Camp Elliott is commanded by Major Smedley Darlington Butler, U. S. Marine Corps. Mr. Garrison both in Panama and since his return to Washington this week has expressed enthusiasm over Major Butler's work. The secretary of war declares that Camp Elliott is the finest military station that he has ever seen. Major Butler is a son of Representative Butler of Pennsylvania.

Naval Officers Object to Extension of Term in Philippines

Naval officers both line and staff, whose detail on the Asiatic station and particularly in the Philippines has been lengthened to three years, have conveyed their dissatisfaction to Washington.

Formerly it was understood that their tour of duty would be for two years, and the extension to three was not anticipated. For this reason the officers now in the Philippines feel that they have cause for complaint.

The explanation made for the changed orders is that with rigid care which the navy officers have been led by bitter experience to take, climate conditions have not had such disastrous an effect upon the personnel. The action was not based on any official reports from army or navy officers.

Reports Regarding Change in Personnel

Representative Lemuel B. Padgett of Tennessee chairman of the naval affairs committee of the house has received replies from most of the fifty officers of the line and staff who were called on for expressions in regard to the naval personnel bill.

All of this matter will be gathered together and printed as a public document. It will be referred to the subcommittee on personnel of which Mr. Padgett will probably be chairman. This commission will report legislation deemed by them desirable either in the form of a separate measure or as an amendment to the naval appropriation bill.

SINKS SWIMMING TO SAVE COMRADES

Boy of 11 Tried To Go Ashore To Call Help for Two in Drifting Boat.

New Bedford, Nov. 16.—Philip McCabe, Jr., 11 years old, whose home is in this city was drowned off Padan arm yesterday after he had made a heroic effort to swim ashore and call help for two of his boy companions, who were in a rowboat. McCabe's strength gave out when he was 25 yards from shore, and he sank to his death, while John McWilliams and John Wolf, his two playmates remained in the boat, were carried out to sea by the wind and tide, to be picked up several hours later by a fishing boat under the command of Captain Tabor, and brought into port.

Lieut. Colonel T. P. Kane, U. S. M. C., formerly commandant of Marines at this station is prominently mentioned as the head of the U. S. Marine Corps.

MRS. BASS RODE CAMEL

Ex-Governor and Wife Made
Venturesome Journey in Tripoli.

Rome, Nov. 16.—John D. Wood, the American consul at Tripoli, after being in Rome a few days as now returned to Tripoli. His recent trip through the new Italian colony there with ex-Governor Bass of New Hampshire and the latter's wife was full of adventures. No white woman had ever penetrated so far into the interior as Mrs. Bass and the ease with which she rode a camel astonished the natives.

With a single Arabian guide, the party was often at the mercy of his loyalty in unknown mountain districts south of Rome, the excursionists' headquarters. Mrs. Bass is the daughter of Charles S. Bird of Walpole, Mass.

Mr. Wood speaks a little Arabic and his diplomacy in showing by a motion of the fingers that the Turks and not the Italians were his friends, probably saved the lives of the party more than once.

"I tell another story in Tripoli," said Mr. Wood "but when you are a couple of hundred miles from civilization a white lie makes a good substitute."

MANAGEMENT OF NAVY YARD

House Naval Committee Said to Favor Civilian Management.

The Army and Navy Register, referring to important legislation, says that there is every likelihood that the House naval committee will take up the question of the management of navy yards. That is a subject which has come directly to the notice of individual members, largely by virtue of their personal encounter with the problem in their visits to the navy yards of the Atlantic coast during the early summer. On those occasions they were profoundly impressed, according to their own statements, with the need of some consistent, simplified, economical process which would have the merit of uniformity of system. It need surprise no service observer if there should come out of the committee deliberations a method of civilian management of the navy yards. At least, some of the prominent and influential members of the committee have expressed themselves in favor of such a change.

They have heard much of the merit of placing civilians in control of the navy-yard plants and found much to criticize in the prevailing methods, which were described to them, among others, by a committee of workmen at the Boston navy yard, where it was explained that the frequent changes necessary among naval officers resulted in much confusion and the increased cost of operation, notably in the overhead charges.

It is realized by the members, who have thought anything on the subject, that it is not easy of solution, and the conservative element is prepared to proceed with caution. This will probably have the effect of preventing precipitate action, even in the way of recommendation, and may result in the organization of a board, which shall not include naval officers in its composition, but which shall be made up of representatives, senators, and civilian experts, to report to Congress at the beginning of the second regular session in December, 1914. That will give a short session for legislative action, and by that time the result of the congressional elections of that year will be known. It may be considered that the committee should possess information without any such delay, but as the situation appears now there are indications that the committee will seriously take up the question of navy yard management with a determination to do something.

ONE-FIFTH SHOULD BE IN FORESTS

Washington, Nov. 16.—To properly regulate streamflow and to protect the soil from washing, not less than from one fifth to one third, to the total area of the country should be in forest. This is the recommendation made today by the forestry commission at the international convention congress.

Forests must be protected, the committee adds, not so much as in localities which already suffer from lack of moisture as in regions which lie in the path of prevailing winds and are still abundantly supplied both with ground water and precipitation.

In the Atlantic plain therefore, and in the southern Appalachians, the gateway for the prevailing winds from the Gulf of Mexico and the Atlantic ocean forests must be especially conserved. If the humidity of the great central basin of the country, the granary of the continent is to be maintained.

Where the clearing of the forest in the Atlantic and Gulf coast states is a necessity, it should be done only under condition that the cleared land is to be devoted to intense cultivation, as after forests, crops contribute most of the moisture of the air. Forests themselves, according to the scientists, evaporate into the air several times more moisture than is given off by water surfaces of equal area and these southeastern forests act as a moisture reservoir for the water which falls upon them and is in turn taken up and passed on again.

By safeguarding the humidity in the regions which lie in the path of the prevailing winds the farm lands further inland ought to get more rain, cleared land which becomes waste, at poor pasture, or grows up to weak vegetation means so much evaporation lost to the passing air currents.

In dry regions rows of trees or wind breaks surrounding fields and orchards, by preventing the drifting of the snow and increasing the activity of the wind, will be more likely to act as conservers of moisture in the soil than solid hedges of timber.

REBELS CAPTURE JUAREZ ON THE TEXAS BORDER

For the Sixth Time City Has Changed Rulers--Americans Killed By Stray Bullets.

El Paso, Tex., Nov. 16.—For the sixth time in the last three years Ciudad Juarez the most important northern port of entry to Mexico changed governments when 2999 rebels, led by Gen. Pancho Villa, attacked and captured the town between 2.30 and 5 o'clock Saturday morning. Taken by surprise the Federal garrison of about 400 men put up a weak resistance.

So unprepared for battle were the Federal defenders that Villa's troops actually reached the center of the town before a single shot was fired. Although an accurate count has not been completed it is estimated that forty persons were killed in the fighting. The rebels lost five men and four or five non-combatants were killed. Among them was Charles Segers, an El Paso automobile driver, who was on the main street in Juarez in his automobile.

Looting is forbidden. "No looting" was the order given by Villa to his men after the town had surrendered and not a single case of this had been reported. Guards were placed at downtown stores with orders to shoot the first man who attempted to loot.

The rebels took 125 Federal prisoners, 24,000 pounds of ammunition (two big pieces and two machine guns). Gen. Francisco Castro, commander of the Juarez garrison is among the prisoners. It is the general opinion that he escaped. No trace of him or his wife has been found. His automobile and contents were found in his residence and Gen. Villa has them for souvenirs.

El Paso police today thought they had captured Gen. Castro here but the prisoner proved to be a colonel from the Juarez garrison. He was sent to Fort Bliss a prisoner.

Bullets fell thick in El Paso during the attack and Chester L. Barnett, a messenger boy was shot through the hand while walking the streets in the early hours. Almost all the downtown business structures were hit by bullets. All El Paso was shaken by the flying and the streets were filled with people. Miraculously no others were struck.

United States Troops on Border. United States troops took station near the international boundary and held the Americans away from the danger zone as much as possible until the battle ended.

father's wife, nor does a broken wire somewhere in the wilderness affect the burning of her parlor lamp.

A severe storm like this causes much suffering and loss of life. The property it destroys and the waste it occasions count heavily in the balance. At the same time it may teach a useful lesson or two. It shows people that a good many conveniences they had thought necessary were not necessary at all. If cars do not run, one can walk and, perhaps, be the better for it.

If merchants cannot deliver, purchasers can go after the goods, be the better for the exertion and, perhaps, save money. If electricity is not available, oil lamps give good light and candles will do in an emergency.

The procession of man-carried market baskets which wended its way from downtown into the residence districts yesterday afternoon and last evening was an object lesson in household economies. If baskets can be carried with no loss of dignity in an emergency, they might be in ordinary times. Could this storm teach people the economy of personal marketing and delivery of food, it would accomplish one good purpose.

When "Pape's Diapiesin" Reaches Stomach All Indigestion, Gas and Sourness Disappears

You don't want a slow remedy when your stomach is bad—or an uncertain one—or a harmful one—your stomach is too valuable; you must insure it with drastic drugs.

Pape's Diapiesin is noted for its speed in giving relief; its harmlessness; its certain unfailing action in regulating sick, sour, gassy stomachs; the millions of cures in indigestion, gas, flatulence, dyspepsia and other stomach troubles make it famous the world over.

Keep this perfect stomach doctor in your home—keep it handy—get a large 50 cent case from any drug store and then if anyone should eat something which doesn't agree with them; if what they eat lays like lead, ferments and causes gas, causes headache, dizziness, and nausea, eructations of sour, undigested food—remember as soon as Pape's Diapiesin comes in contact with the stomach all such distress vanishes. Its promptness, certainty and ease in overcoming the worst stomach disorders is a revelation to those who try it.

KNIFE USED IN EARLY MORNING ARGUMENT

Thomas Pilgrim, the well-known base ball and foot ball player, was stabbed early Sunday morning on Congress street. The wounds were in his right arm and while painful they are not serious.

Tony Caruso, an Italian, is locked up at the police station charged with the stabbing and Benjamin Sandillo is held on a witness. The trouble is said to have started over some argument and Pilgrim left the restaurant and went out on the sidewalk. He was followed by the Italian who, it is alleged, attacked Pilgrim with a knife and to save himself he threw up his right arm, and received two stab wounds before he could beat off the attack. One of the wounds is nearly three inches deep and in the fleshy part of the forearm.

Caruso made his escape after the cutting and it was not until six o'clock Sunday evening that he was arrested in a house on Salisbury street by officers Condon and McAdery. At the police station he admitted having trouble but claims that he did not use a knife, but a bottle opener. The police, however, think it was a knife, as the cuts in the sleeve were clean.

Pilgrim reported the matter to the police and Dr. Fender dressed the wounds. Sandillo who was a witness was arrested soon after the stabbing and he was held at the station as a witness.

JUDGE FOSTER OF MAINE DEAD

Portland, Me., Nov. 16. Kneph Foster for many years active in Maine politics a leader of the bar and twice an associate justice of the supreme court of the state died Saturday after a long illness.

He was born in Newry, Me., in 1839. While a student in Bowdoin College he enlisted in the 11th Maine regiment and served through three years of the Civil War. In being mustered out at service he re-entered Bowdoin and after graduation studied law in Albany. He was admitted to the bar of New York and later to that of the state of Maine and the United States.

He was actively engaged in the practice of his profession until within a few months of his death. Judge Foster was one of the founders of the Progressive party in Maine and was at one time suggested as a candidate

NATIONAL GRANGE HAS CREATED A NEW RECORD

Manchester, Nov. 16.—In conferring the sixth and seventh degrees the convention of the National Grange Patrons of Husbandry now going on in Manchester has broken all previous records and there are many members of this great organization who are today saying that the record of this session can never again be duplicated. The number obligated before the National Grange at the sessions held in the Auditorium Thursday and Friday was 5353 a gain of 2803 over the largest number receiving this degree at any previous session of the National Grange. The largest number heretofore was at Hartford, Conn., when there were 2439 in the class. That was at the session of 1907 and the achievement of that session for seventh degree members was then thought to constitute a record for all time.

Of the total of 5353 New Hampshire furnished the big representation of 3188 this number of tickets being issued which shows how closely the officials of the state Grange figured the situation when they said New Hampshire would furnish more seventh degree members than ever before appeared before the National Grange to take this obligation.

The number obligated in the sixth degree before the New Hampshire state Grange which conferred this honor was 1383 which was beyond expectations.

on that ticket for the United States Senate. He was a member of the G. A. R., Loyal Legion Odd Fellows and Masons. He is survived by a widow and one son Robert C. Foster.

SCARCITY OF RADIUM

Scarcity of radium has prevented a thorough test of what its curative properties may be in cancer, according to the report to the clinical congress of surgeons in session, by the cancer campaign committee.

The committee organized to combat cancer by spreading information leading to early treatment of the disease as soon as it manifests itself, reported on the educational campaign of the last year, carried on by the American society for the control of cancer.

"Only time will tell what per cent of cases can be cured with radium," the report says. "In the meantime the public should be informed through every possible source that an early surgical treatment offers the best chance for cure. The surgeons who have reported the best results from radium still argue early operation whenever possible."

"Few surgeons in this country have enough radium to give it a thorough trial. It has appeared that extensive doses have sometimes cured when smaller amounts have had little effect and it is suggested that radium should be standardized in eliminate variations in its strength."

Popular articles in magazines, public lectures through newspapers, lectures before women's clubs in factories and elsewhere have been effective throughout the year, in spreading information on cancer.

Present death statistics on the scourge are of questionable value, it was said. Frederick L. Hoffman of Newark, N. J., declared that discussion of whether cancer is on the increase at present was merely guess work.

"Seventy-five thousand persons in the United States will die of cancer in 1913," says Dr. Hoffman. The death rate is 8.9 per cent of the total mortality of persons over 15. However, statistics may reflect merely better diagnosis and death registration and it is not worth while arguing if cancer is on the increase until we have complete and accurate reports."

Importance of early diagnosis and surgical treatment was unanimously urged by the delegates in resolutions adopting the report. No other procedure offers hope at present, it was declared.

The Busy Bee

Advertising is the one that puts the "buzz" in business.

Newspaper advertising is the best and most productive form of advertising—because it reaches the people at the time they are ready to act on the impulse.

A newspaper advertisement suggests something near at hand—not far away.

It carries with it an unwritten "Do It Now" message.

And the advertisement that brings the "I WILL" into the mind of the advertiser—is the advertisement that pays.

Local merchants have long counted the newspapers as their best help to success and manufacturers are now seeing the light as never before.

ago, when McKinley was employed there. He listened greedily to the tales of how Orrin Clark always kept between $45,000 and $50,000 in the old-fashioned safe in his front room, the key of which he carried in his trousers pocket.

When he left Derry and went to Haverhill, he kept in touch with his sources of information in the New Hampshire town. Recently he received word that Clark and his brother had gone on an automobile trip to Hooksett, and had met with an accident. Clark, who was 63, was confined in the Manchester Hospital. His sister, about his own age, was left alone in the big house.

Then McKinley, it is said, gathered his pals and told his tale. They laid plans, it is said, to go to the ononderry house and get that money. They sent to Pittsburgh for revolvers, so as not to draw the suspicion of the Haverhill police. And, last night, fully equipped, they set forth.

The Haverhill police, however, had a good pigeon. He informed them of the plot and they notified Sheriff Sperry of Rockingham county at Portsmouth. Londonderry, however, is in Hillsborough county, and the Portsmouth authorities sent word to Manchester.

Clad in citizen's clothes, inspectors James Hampton, William Hoher and Officers Smith, Sheehy and Hadlock drove in an automobile to the Clark homestead, which is completely shut off from the world by woods. They hid their machine in the woods and entered the house, where they were met by Miss Clark. Anxiously she inquired the matter.

When told that robbers were even then surrounding the house with the intention of robbing the safe, she became hysterical. In vain the officers attempted to quiet her that they might strike. Finally, to search for some one of the neighbors, Hampton and Hadlock stepped outside the door and started down the path.

Hardly had they closed the door, however, when they saw Thomas Clark and Ray Howard coming up toward the house. Feigning ignorance, the police asked the location of a burglarious person's home, and were told by the would-be burglars that they were strangers and did not know.

With that, the officers drew their revolvers and "covered" the youthful gunmen. Paralyzed by surprise, they meekly raised their hands while Hadlock searched them. From one he took a revolver and another a searchlight and club. Hardly had they been handcuffed together when McKinley and Ralph Howard appeared, only to meet with the same fate. Thus the plot was foiled before it had even had a chance to start working.

Miss Clark was given in charge of a neighbor and the officers and their prisoners motored back to town. The boys were locked up charged with carrying concealed weapons. Today, under grilling by Chief of Police Healey, they broke down and told all. They said that they had intended to harm no one, but they were determined, if they found it necessary, to shoot the whole household of people to get the money.

Then the police discovered that the only charge that could be held against any of them was that of carrying concealed weapons. They had had no chance to make an attempt to break into the house. And under this charge Clark will get off sent free. All he carried was a searchlight.

Ralph Howard, with Fitzgerald, who did not come, was released recently from a Maine jail, where the two had been confined for their connection with robberies in the Bangor district.

The punishment for carrying concealed weapons in this state is a year in jail and a fine of $100.

The boys found the shell which is said to have been an army relic. While the youngsters were trying to see the works the shell dropped from young Robert's hands it is said and exploded with a terrific crash striking Hiram in the leg and almost wrecking the room.

OUR OVERCOATS.

Our overcoat display is large and comprehensive—every popular model being represented—all weights for all weathers—styles for the business man, the professional man and for the "extremist" in dress. Overcoats of "regular" length (just below the knees) modest but modish—others longer, half-belted, patch pockets, fancy backs, etc.—some very long, full belted, very roomy, shawl collared—all bristling with "style points."

$12.00 to $25.00.
